THE BELKNAP EXPOSURE.

What the Committee Learned

From Mr. Marsh.

An Unearthing of Corruption that Causes the Greatest Excitement

THE CASE AS IT NOW STANDS.

Washington, March 8 .- The President has designated Secretary Robeson to act as Secretary of War until the successor to Gen. Belkuap has been appointed. The following is the letter of the President directing Secretary Robeson to assume the duties of Secretary of

EXECUTIVE MANSION,
WASHINGTON, D. C., March 2.
SIR: The resignation of the Secretary of War having been tendered and accepted this day, you are hereby directed to assume and perform the duties pertaining to the office of the Secretary of War in addition to those of your own office until otherwise directed.

Very truly yours,
U. S. GEANT.
To the Secretary of the Navy.
Mr. Clymer, at five minutes to 40 clock

Mr. Clymer, at five minutes to 4 o'clock in the House of Representatives, said he desired to ask permission of the House desired to ask permission of the House to make a report from the Committee on Expenditures of the War Department, of so great importance that he felt quite certain when it was heard the House would sustain him in making the request at this time.

The Committee having been allowed no clerk to perform writing for them, he (Mr. Clymer) had made the records and felt sure none of the clerks of the House could read them, and he asked that he might read the report himself. Mr. Clymer, in compliance with requests from all sides of the House, took the Clerk's desk and read the report as follows:

The Committee on Expenditure of the War Department respectfully report of Wm. W. Belknap, late Secretary of War.

Resolved, That a committee of five members of the House be appointed and instructed to proceed to the Bar of the Senate, and there impeach Wm. W. Belknap, late Secretary of War, in the name of the House of Representatives and of all the American people, of high crimes and misdemeanors while in office, and to inform that body that articles of impeachment will in due time be prosented, and request the Senate to take such action as they may deem proper in the action as they may deem proper in the

Mr. Clymer then proceeded to read

Mr. Clymer then proceeded to read the accompanying documents. The first was the testimony of Caleb P. Marsh, the report commencing as iollows:

Tuesday, Feb. 29, 1876.—The Committee met at 10:30 A. M. Present, Clymer, Blackburn and Robbens. Mr. Caleb P. Marsh, one of the witnesses ordered to be summoned by the Committee, being present was duly sworn according to law. Question by the Chairman:

Q.—Where do you reside? A.—I reside at No. 30 West Fifty-seventh street, New York; have resided in New York about eight years.

New York; have resided in New York about eight years.

Q.—Were you or were you not appointed or tendered an appointment as post trader at Fort Sill, Indian Territory, in the fall of 1870 by the Secretary of War? if so, under what circumstances was such appointment secured to you? State also if you were commissioned by the Secretary as such post trader, and if so, who was so commissioned, and if any other person was so commissioned.

if so, who was so commissioned, and it any other person was so commissioned give his name, the reason why he was commissioned, and if any agreement was made by you and appointee? State it or produce it if in writing, and was said agreement made with the knowledge of the Secretary of War, and state circumstances connected with making that agreement and all that transpired thereunder fully and particularly, as if you were especially interrogated in regard to the several transactions, and so fully as to save the necessity of repeating interrogations.

To this Marsh submitted a written statement stating in substance that in at losing the place. After consultation with Evans it was agreed that Marsh should secure the place, that Evans was to get commission, and that he was to pay Marsh $12,000 annually. After receiving the first $12,000 he sent one-hall of it to Mrs. Bowers.

The next payment was sent to the Secretary of War himself, and he had continued to send it down to the last payment in 1875. Marsh also said be at-baby.

After reading the above, Mr. Marsh was examined at length. The following questions and answers indicate more questions and answers indicate more fully the contents of the paper:

Q—By Chairman: State how the payments were made to the Secretary of War subsequently to the funeral of his then wite, in 1870—whether in cash, by check, draft, certificate of deposit, bonds, or by express or otherwise? bonds, or by express or otherwise?

A.—The money was sent according to the instructions of the Secretary of War—cometimes in bank notes by Adams' Express; I think on one or more occasions by certificate of deposit on the National Bank of Commerce, New York; sometimes I have paid him in New York in person; except first payment in fall 1870 and the lastin fall 1875. All were made to the Secretary in the modes I have stated, and unless, perhaps, on one or two occasions at his instance, I have bought Government bonds with moneys in my hands, arising from contract in my hands, arising from contract which I eliber sent or handed to him. Q.—By Mr. Blackburn: Can you state the sum in aggregate received by you under contract with Evans, and what under contract with Evans, and what portions thereof have you paid to the Secretary of War in concluding the first and last payments, which you say were not paid to him? A.—I have no memorandum whatever on which to make answer. It is a very simple calculation, however. The first payment to me by Evans was made in the fall or 1870, at the rate of $12,000 a year; he paid at that rate about a year and a haif, and since then at the rate of $6,000 a year. It would aggregate about $40,000, one-half of which I have disposed of as above stated.

Mr. Marsh went on to state that the money was generally sent to the Secre-

Mr. Marsh went on to state that the money was generally sent to the Secretary of War by express, atthough he had sometimes paid it to him personally. Since being subpensed by telegraph, he had a conversation with Mrs. Belkuap in the Secretary's presence. She suggested that the witness should represent to the Committee that she had business transactions with him, the witness for several years, and that she had business transactions with him, the witness, for several years, and that all this money sent to the Secretary was money that she had from time to time deposited with witness as a kind of banker. Witness told her the statement would not hold water before the Committee, and that in order to save them he proposed to leave the country and not appear before the Committee at all, to waich the Secretary streamously ob-

House. They reported further, that at 11 o'clock they had received a communication from the President announcing the resignation of Secretary Belknap together with a copy of his lettes accepting the same.

The Committee submit this report and demand that Wm. W. Belknap, late Secretary of War, be dealt with according to the law of the land, and to that end submit the evidence and a rescript of the record of proceedings of the Committee. The following resolutions were submitted:

Resolved, That W. W. Belknap, late Secretary of War, be impeached of high crimes and misdemeanors in office.

Resolved, That the testimony in the case of W. W. Belknap, late Secretary of War, be referred to the Committee on the Judiciary, with instructions to prepare and report without unnecessary delay suitable articles of impeachment of Wm. W. Belknap, late Secretary of War.

Resolved, That a committee of five members of the House be appointed and instructed to proceed to the Bar of the

and is quite overcome. He has not slept for several nights, and his appearance is distressing. His face is worn and bag-gard, and his eyes are swellen and blood-shot, and his manner is nervous and ex-cited.

He says he takes the whole responsibility, and that his duty to his wife is greater than his own honor. He says that some of the testimony read in the House is true, some is false, and some he is entirely ignorant of.

CONKLING'S REMEDY.

It is said that Senator Coukling has recommended the President to direct the Attorney General to present the case through the District Attorney to the Grand Jury for the indictment of Mr. Beiknap, in order that the matter may be brought before the Courts.

FORMAL NOTICE OF IMPEACHMENT. WASHINGTON, March 3.—To-day at 1 O'clock the House Committee appeared in the Senate Chamber, when Mr. Clymer announced that, in the name of the House of Representatives and the people, the Committee Impeached W. W. Belknap of high orimes and misdemeanors, and that in due time formal articles would be presented.

He requested the Senate to take order in the premises, and the Acting Vice President replied, "The Senate will take order in the premises."

MORTON TENDERED THE PLACE. It is stated to-day that the President has tendered the position of Secretary of War to Senntor Morton, of Indiana. There is still great excitement at the White House and in all the Department

There is still great excitement at the statement stating in substance that in the summer of 1870 he spent some time at Long Branch, and on his return to New York Mrs. Belkoap and Mrs. Bowers went to his house, and Mrs. Bowers, on account of kindness shown her, asked witness if he would not like a post trader's position.

He replied that he thought these positions should be given to honorably discharged soldiers, besides, he had no political influence. Mrs. Bowers said she could secure it, but suggested to Mr. Marsh not to mention the matter to the Secretary. He had threatened to kick Appleton down stairs, she added. The post at Fort Sill was about to be abandoned, and sne could obtain it for Mr. Marsh.

He then made application for the post WANTED SITUATION—As gardener or of horses, cows, and is a careful driver; willing and obliging; wages no object. Call at No. 276 Hopkins street.

> The next payment was sent to the Secretary of War himself, and he had continued to send it down to the last payment in 1875. Marsh also said he attended the first Mrs. Belknap's funeral in December, 1870, in Washington, and while there he went up stairs to see her visited by just retribution. It body, when Mrs. Bowers explained that all the money sent was in trust for the baby.
> The Merald says the sudden, overwherming and irretrievable disgrace of whemming and irretrievable disgrace of the men sees an occasion for profound regret and sortend up in an indignant appreciation of the enormity of his crimal and a vigorous desire to see it visited by just retribution. It claims that Mr. Belknap is merely a sample of the men by whom President Grant was surrounded, and mentions the cases of Witigms, Delano, mentions the cases of Williams, Delano, Richardson and Creswell as insigned. It contends that Belknap being no longer a civil officer can not be impeached. Belknap's crime will be terribly damaging to the administration.

The World and Tribune both consider Belknap's crime a national disgrace.
